Governor Sununu Proclaims April as Financial Literacy for Youth Month

The New Hampshire Jump$Start Coalition's ongoing effort to build the personal financial management skills of Granite State students have been recognized by Governor Christopher T. Sununu in a proclamation designating April as Youth Financial Literacy Month.

Governor Sununu acknowledged that "personal financial education is essential for ensuring that the youth of New Hampshire are prepared to manage money and credit wisely and responsibly." He recognized the "concerned professionals of NH Jump$Start who volunteer their time and energy to promote financial education for New Hampshire's youth to meet these educational goals." In proclaiming Youth Financial Literacy Month, Governor Sununu "call(ed) upon the citizens of this state to encourage and support" the efforts of NH Jump$Start.

Daniel Hebert, NH Jump$Start's President, thanked the Governor for his recognition on behalf of the members of the all-volunteer organization. "NH Jump$Start is comprised of many individuals who are selflessly dedicated to helping our young people gain the skills they will need to be productive and self-sufficient adults. It is heartening to know that Governor Sununu understands how vigorous and persistent these efforts have been," Hebert stated.
